DeQueen Is Hope's Opponent 7:45 Friday Night

Bobcats to Seek 9th Win Against Sevier Leopards

Teams Nearly Even, With Possible 4-Pound Advantage for Hope

TWO BOBCATS OUT

Tackle Moore and Halfback Ponder Unlikely to Play Friday

By LEONARD ELLIS

The Hope High School football team will attempt to keep its winning streak intact against the DeQueen High School Leopards here at 7:45 p. m. Friday.

The Bobcats, with a weakened lineup, will be seeking No. 9. The Leopards will be fighting to avenge a 7-to-0 defeat suffered at the hands of the Bobcats at DeQueen last season.

Dick Moore, veteran Hope tackle, and Earl Ponder, halfback, are definitely out of the contest because of knee injuries. Neither is likely to suit up.

Moore will be replaced by Johnny Wilson, sophomore tackle, who is expected to play his first full game this season. Wilson weighs close to 175 pounds but lack of experience has held him off the regular squad.

Ralph Hill will start in the backfield with Spears, W. Parsons and McDaniel. Dean Parsons was pulled out of the line this week and has been running in a halfback position.

Cook replaced D. Parsons at right guard and is expected to play most of the game in that position Friday night. With the exception of Moore and Ponder the team is in good shape.

Leopards Are Ready

Reports from DeQueen state that the Leopards would be at top speed for the first time this season. Further reports said the game would be hard fought and the score would be close.

The season record of the DeQueen team has not been received in Hope. Weights of the DeQueen players are unavailable. It is believed, however, that the Bobcats will have a weight advantage of possibly four or five pounds to the man. This is unofficial, however.

A large delegation of fans, the DeQueen High School band and pep squad, will accompany the Leopard team to Hope. The visitors will occupy the east side of the field.

An interested spectator on the Hope side of the field will be Homer H. Hammons, brother of the Bobcat mentor, of San Francisco, Cal. The Californian has never seen a Hammons-coached team in action.

Much rivalry has existed between Hope and DeQueen in past years and a hard-fought game can be expected here Friday night. The kick-off will be at 7:45 p. m.

The probable starting lineup:

HOPE DEQUEEN
Ramsey Gardner
Cook Center Friday
Reese Right Tackle Lemley
Spears Right End Sewell
W. Parsons Quarterback Pafford
Hill Right Half Kyle
McDaniel Left Half McLemore

Officials—Ed Cole (U. of A.) referee; Bill Brashier, (Ouchita) umpire; George Jordan (U. of A.) head linesman; Earl O'Neal (Hendrix) field judge.

Pope Appears to Quiet Sick Report

Pius 11th Weary, But Only Natural After His Long Address

VATICAN CITY, Rome, Italy.—(AP)—Pope Pius 11th spoke for an hour Friday to 3,000 representatives of the First Missionary union, dispelling rumors that the state of his health is serious.

Witnesses said the holy father made his speech with but slight and natural evidence of weariness toward the close.

In antiquity, to join hands was equivalent to signing a treaty of peace.

Turned Brown By Brown Turner

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—(Special)—From the way United States Senator McKellar of Tennessee is cutting up about that haystack vote taken by the Literary Digest in the presidential race you'd be led to suspect the Senator took it too seriously and laid his bet on the wrong man even if he is a good Democrat. Before the election the Digest made it known in words short enough for Ex-President Smith to understand that the object of the poll wasn't to encourage betting.

Business is so good these days industry is about to turn loose three billion dollars to stockholders and workers just to see, maybe, how long it will take to make it back.

Hammons to Head Red Cross Drive

Wayne H. England to Handle Roll Call Outside City of Hope

Foy H. Hammons Friday accepted the Hope chairmanship of the American Red Cross Roll Call, and Wayne H. England the chairmanship for all parts of the county outside of Hope.

They succeed D. B. Thompson of Hope who has served as county chairman for a number of years.

Mr. Hammons and Mr. England are expected to announce committees within a few days to start the annual drive for funds. The county quota has not been received here, but is expected any day.

Mr. Hammons announced Friday afternoon that the Red Cross Roll Call in Hope would get under way early Monday morning.

He will have the co-operation of the Young Business Men's association in the appointment of canvassing committees, he said; and he expects to arrange with the school authorities to be absent from the high school all day Monday in order to manage the drive.

Hempstead's quota is $600.

Bailey Declares for Interest Cut

Governor-Elect Tells St. Louis Bankers About Good Times Here

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—(AP)—Gov.-elect Carl E. Bailey, saying "what benefits Arkansas benefits you" told 60 St. Louis business and professional men that he was here to support a movement to refinance Arkansas highway and toll bridge bonded indebtedness with bonds of lower interest rate.

Bailey spoke at a dinner arranged in his honor by Roscoe C. Hobbs, president of the Hobbs-Western company and formerly of Rogers, Ark. Attorney Sam W. Furdyle, another St. Louisian from Arkansas, was toastmaster.

Bailey enumerated some things he has in mind for the next two years. Among them was civil service for state employees, a comprehensive rural electrification program in co-operation with the federal government, further state park improvement and encouragement of industry with a view to increasing employment.

He went into detail regarding the bond financing program.

"Why do I tell you these things?" he said. "I don't mind confessing, I want your help in reducing our debt load. This can be accomplished, and will be accomplished, through refinancing the state highway and toll bridge indebtedness, approximately $88,000,000, at a lower interest rate."

"These bonds now bear from 4 1/2 to 5 per cent. Cut that to 3 1/2 and the people of Arkansas will save $32,000,000 in interest over the life of bonds. Prices of these bonds have advanced rapidly in recent weeks. There is every reason to believe they are going to be selling at a premium within a short time. The logical step, therefore, is to issue new bonds with a lower interest coupon rate."

Bailey said he will ask the legislature soon after it convenes to remove a restriction imposed by law on ownership of Arkansas securities by Arkansas residents.

What Was Wrong in Digest's Poll? "We Don't Know"

Magazine's Official Statement Explains Plan Used to Work

1932 YES; NO IN 1936

Same Voters Went One Way With Digest, But Another at Polls

Because the Literary Digest's fiasco in 1936 might well have been "a straw vote to end straw votes" and may serve to check new moves in the forecasting of elections—The Star is publishing this official explanation from the Digest, released to the press today. As pointed out by The Star editor, some time ago, the Digest has no editorial policy, but had a big financial stake in the accuracy of its presidential straw vote—and lost. The most significant thing is, as the Digest itself says, that the only really accurate prophet among all the forecasters this year was the Honorable Jim Farley, who said Roosevelt would carry everything except Maine and Vermont—and wasn't fooling!

In 1920, 1924, 1928 and 1932, The Literary Digest Polls were right. Not only right in the sense that they showed the winner; they forecast the actual percentage of vote with such a small percentage of error (less than 1 per cent in 1932) that newspapers and individuals everywhere heaped such phrases as "uncannily accurate" and "amazingly right" upon us.

Four years ago, when the Poll was running his way our very good friend Jim Farley was saying that "no sane person could escape the implication" of a sampling "so fairly and correctly conducted."

Well, this year we used precisely the same method that had scored four bull's-eyes in four previous tries. And we were far from correct. Why? We ask that question in all sincerity, because we want to know.

"Reasons"—Oh, we've been flooded with "reasons." Hosts of people who feel they have learned more about polling in a few months than we have learned in more than a score of years have told us just where we were off. Hundreds of astute "second-guessers" have assured us, by telephone, by letter, in the newspapers, that the reasons for our error were "obvious."

Suppose we review a few of these "obvious reasons."

The one most often heard runs something like this: "This election was different. Party lines were obliterated. For the first time in more than a century, all the 'have-nots' were on one side. The Digest, polling names from telephone books and lists of automobile owners, simply did not reach the lower strata." And so on.

"Have-nots"—Well, in the first place, the "have-nots" did not re-elect Mr. Roosevelt. That they contributed to his astonishing plurality, no one can doubt. But the fact remains that a majority of farmers, doctors, grocers and candlestick makers also voted for the President. As Dorothy Thompson remarks in the New York Herald Tribune, you could eliminate the straight labor vote, the relief vote and the negro vote, and still Mr. Roosevelt would have a majority.

So that "reason" does not appear to hold much water. Besides—

We did reach these so-called "have-not" strata. In the city of Chicago, for example, we polled every third registered voter. In the city of Scranton, Penn., we polled every other registered voter. And in Allentown, Pa., likewise every other, we polled every fourth.

Is that so? chorus the critics, a little abashed, no doubt. Well, they can back up, you must have got the right answer in those towns, anyway.

Well, we didn't. The fact is that we were as badly off there as we were on the national total.

Cities.—In Allentown, for example, 10,753 out of the 30,811 who voted returned ballots to us showing a division of 53.32 per cent to 46.67 per cent in favor of Mr. London. What was the actual result? It was 56.93 per cent for Mr. Roosevelt, 41.17 per cent for the Kansan.

In Chicago, the 100,929 voters who returned ballots to us showed a division of 48.63 per cent to 51.36 per cent in favor of Mr. London. The 1,672,175 who voted in the actual election gave the President 65.24 per cent, election gave the President 65.24 per cent, election gave the President 65.24 per cent.

What happened? Why did only one in five voters in Chicago to whom The Digest sent ballots take the trouble to reply? And why was there a preponderance of Republicans in the one-

Hempstead Shows Little Interest in Electrification

County Agent Mountcastle Says None Will Commit Themselves

U. S. LOANS MONEY

Consumer Requirement Only $15 Per Month Per Mile of Line

Although commonly considered a highly civilized nation, the United States lags far behind the other white countries in the electrification of its farm homes—and the people of Hempstead county thus far have shown little interest in President Roosevelt's program to improve matters. Walter Mountcastle, Hempstead farm agent, told Hope Rotary club Friday noon at Hotel Barlow.

Mr. Mountcastle appeared on a program featured by several club visitors. Hope High School Coach Foy Hammons introduced his brother, Homer Hammons of San Francisco, who is here for a week's visit, and also introduced another pair of Hope's Bobcats, Fullback Lowell McDaniel and Halfback Ralph Hill.

Fred Keller, state administrator of Emergency Conservation Works; and the Rev. W. R. Hamilton, pastor of First Baptist church of Hope, were club guests.

U. S. Far Behind

In his speech on rural electrification in Hempstead county Mr. Mountcastle said:

"The farm homes of Holland are 100 per cent electrified; in France 70 per cent; in Germany 90 per cent; in Switzerland 70 per cent; and in New Zealand 93 per cent—but in the United States only 12 per cent."

"Take the comparison between New Zealand and the United States, for instance. New Zealand has a population of only 14 to the square mile, but 83 per cent of its farm homes have electricity. The United States has a population of 41 to the square mile, but the percentage of its electrified farm homes is only 12."

"On May 11, 1935 President Roosevelt set up the Rural Electrification Administration (REA). This provides for loans at 3 per cent interest or less for 20 years, with which to construct electric lines by non-profit corporations."

"The loans are for two purposes: First, to construct the actual transmission lines, and second, to finance the buying of electric appliances and to wire farm homes for electricity."

"The non-profit corporations are set up to make a profit, of course, but any dividends earned are rebated back to the consumers at the end of the year in the form of rebates, prorated according to the amount of electricity consumed individually."

"There are 122 such REA prospects now under construction in 32 states. They have 15,000 miles of transmission line, and serve 75,000 farms."

"Little Interest Here

"As your county farm agent I have called several meetings in Hempstead in recent weeks—but the response is altogether disappointing. The people seem to feel that they would use electricity once it had been made available—but it will never be made available unless they determine to take advantage of the REA program."

"Here is the procedure under the REA:

"First, the county is surveyed for potential farm users of electricity. The demand for electric lights alone is not so important. Mantle lamps already are furnishing a very good light. But the electric demand created by appliances and other motors is quite important."

"Second, after the county survey is completed and the electric demand established, this data is compiled in map form and filed with the state engineer for REA. It is required that every prospect show an average de-

Italy Admits the War on Ethiopia

DeBono Says Mussolini and He Planned It Back in 1933

ROME, Italy.—(AP)—The memoirs of Marshal Emilio De Bono, Italian commander at the start of the Ethiopian war, described Italy Friday as the aggressor in East Africa.

De Bono showed that he and Mussolini had agreed on war in the beginning of 1933 and immediately began preparations. He showed the Italo-Ethiopian war to be one of conquest.

When Hempstead's Native Son Brought a Message From Asia

Dr. R. Manton Wilson (right), speaking before Hope Rotary club luncheon in the club dining room of Hotel Barlow last Friday, November 6, told fellow citizens of his native Hempstead county that the present world outlook makes war more likely in Europe than in Asia.

Dr. Wilson went away from his native Columbus 30 years ago, a young medical graduate, to become famous as director of the Presbyterian mission hospital for lepers near Souchun, Korea. He is home for a visit with his parents at Columbus. His father J. S. Wilson, Sr., is now in his 94th year, a pioneer planter and merchant.

Labor Forecasts Lewis' Failure

Green Asserts Federation Will Do "All the Organizing"

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, forecast Friday the complete failure of John L. Lewis' drive to bring all workers in each big industry into one big union.

Addressing the building trades department of the convention of the A. F. of L., Green said, "We're going to organize the unorganized of America and we're going to organize them into the American Federation of Labor."

Trailer Regulation Next for Highway

Adequate Lights and Brakes to Be Subjects of Future Laws

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—The rapidly increasing importance of the trailer as a factor in highway traffic was recognized by the Enforcement Office of the Division of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators in session here Thursday.

The officers voted to recommend that the association ask legislatures to enact laws regulating operation of trailers. Such laws would include classification and regulation according to weight and compel trailers to have adequate lights and brakes.

J. P. Arnold, chief of the Minnesota Highway Patrol and division chairman in his opening address, said that development of the trailer had been so rapid that many states have no regulations for them. He said that if people continued to use trailers as they have done the past two years, they soon would become the "greatest menace on highways."

He classed as "Enemy No. 1" to safe driving, the driver himself, and said the trailer had become "Enemy No. 2."

Another delegate insisted on classification and weight in future measures seeking to regulate trailers. He said that if such precaution were not taken "soon we will see a boxcar running along the highway under the name of a trailer."

It was pointed out that stealing trailers already has become a profitable "racket." It is harder to identify trailers or get a line on them than it is to recover a stolen car. The Enforcement Division also will recommend that states adopt the uniform motor vehicle act.

Woman's Brother Swears Out Warrant Against Kentuckian

NEW CASTLE, Ky.—(AP)—The arrest of Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt on a warrant charging him with the murder of Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, La Grange (Ky.) widow, cut off an inquest into her death Thursday.

Sheriff Evan Harrod arrested the former Kentucky National Guard adjutant general after he declined on "advice of counsel" to testify regarding circumstances of the fatal shooting. Mrs. Taylor's body was found through the heart, was found in a roadside ditch about 200 yards from Denhardt's automobile Friday night.

Coroner D. L. Ricketts, who called General Denhardt as the first witness, postponed the inquest indefinitely. The arrest followed a demand of Denhardt's lawyer that the inquest go on despite his refusal to testify. Arraigned before County Judge A. S. Morgan, Denhardt was released under $25,000 bond for his appearance. November 20, E. S. Garr of La Grange, a brother of Mrs. Taylor, swore to the warrant against Denhardt.

Roosevelt Determined to Avoid Currency, Exchange Threat

WASHINGTON, D. C.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said Friday that the Federal Reserve Board is studying the question of possible need of legislation to control foreign buying of American securities.

The president said foreign investments in the American market, if accumulated to a certain point, were a potential danger not only to domestic currency and exchange but to every other nation's currency and exchange.

Social Security Forms Ready for Delivery Monday

Must Be Returned to Hope Postoffice by Saturday, November 21

TO ALL EMPLOYERS

Cards Must Be Filled Out, Although Employing But One

All Hope employers of labor must register with the local postoffice next week, stating the total number of persons they employ, for the purposes of the federal Social Security Act.

This announcement was made Friday by Hope Postmaster Robert M. Wilson, and cards providing for such registration will be delivered Monday, November 16.

The cards must be filled out and returned to the local postoffice by Saturday, November 21.

Next week's program of registration is for employers only.

Later in November a similar registration program will be carried out for individual employees—but the employers' program comes first.

In this program the Postoffice Department is co-operating with the federal Social Security Board merely the extent of obtaining certain information.

Delivery on Monday

The form-card for employers which will be distributed Monday is known as SS-4, and must be filled out by every individual, firm, trust or estate partnership, corporation, association, or joint-stock company which employs so much as one person under 65 years of age.

The only lines of labor exempt are: Self-employment, railroad employment, agricultural labor; domestic service in a private home; casual labor not in the course of the employer's trade or business; service performed in the employ of the federal, state or local government; and service performed in the employ of a corporation or community chest organization formed for non-profit purposes.

Form SS-4 may be returned to the local postoffice personally or mailed postage free.

The forms will be sent to a central accounting office, which will then assign each employer a "Social Security Account Number."

From Internal Collector

Announcement was made Friday by Homer M. Atkins, Collector of Internal Revenue.

New Jersey's Query

TRENTON, N. J.—(AP)—Governor Hoffman asked President Roosevelt Friday whether he intended recommending to congress an extension of time for states to comply with the federal social security act or whether the collection of the unemployment insurance tax would be deferred until a majority of the states had complied.

Revenue of the receipt of Regulations relating to the employer's tax and the employers' tax under Title 8 of the Social Security Act. These regulations are ready for distribution and will be of interest to all employers and employees.

Title 8 of the Social Security Act imposes two taxes, an income tax on employees and an excise tax on employers. These taxes are in addition to other taxes, and are to be collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury. The Bureau emphasized that the employers' tax would be deferred until a majority of the states had complied.

All services which an employer performs for his employee within the United States, including Alaska, Hawaii, and the District of Columbia, constitute "employment" under Title 8, unless excepted by law. The law exempts the following services: agricultural labor, domestic service in a private home, service performed by an individual who has attained the age of 65, service performed for certain non-profit organizations having religious, charitable, scientific or educational purposes, and casual labor not in the course of the employer's trade or business. Also excepted under the law are services performed by ship's crews, services performed in the employ of Federal, State and local Governments and their instrumentalities.

My Creed

To live as gently as I can,
To be, no matter where, a man;
To take what comes of good or ill
And cling to faith and honor still;
To do my best, and let that stand
The record of my brain and hand;
And then, should failure come to me
Still work and hope for victory.
To leave some sample mark behind
To keep my having lived in mind;
If comely to aught I show,
To be an honest, generous foe,
To play my little part, nor whine
That greater honors are not mine.
This, I believe, is all I need
For my philosophy and creed.

We are pleased to have as a guest speaker for the morning worship service Sunday Rev. Fred M. Goff, formerly of Hope but now of Fredericktown Mo., where Rev. Old friends will welcome this opportunity of hearing Rev. Goff, and will be present to greet him Sunday morning.

The pastor will speak at the evening service, beginning at 7:30 p. m., on "Turning Aside to See." That in these busy hurrying times we need to be stirred afresh to the blessed exercise of fellowship with God, few Christians will deny. That fellowship with God is a blessed experience all who know anything about Christian experience will agree. "It is good for me to draw near God," is a common sentiment among Christians, but the drawing near is not nearly so common an experience.

Arkansas Hi Grid Rivals in Week-End Clash

Zebra-Tiger Tilt Heads State List

20th Annual Battle to Be Fought in Little Rock Stadium

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Four undefeated Arkansas high school eleven renew old gridiron rivalries this week-end and there's a chance that at least one of this number will emerge with their first defeat of the season.

The Little Rock Tigers and Pine Bluff Zebras are expected to draw the biggest crowd of the week-end for their twentieth annual meeting in the capital city stadium.

Both teams have drilled behind closed gates this week, indicating that each will have a bang of surprises for the other.

The Tigers haven't lost a game in the state this year, while the Zebras have been defeated once and tied twice, but observers pointed out that "anything can happen in a Tiger Zebra tilt."

Blytheville and Searcy, Eastern Arkansas rivals, are developing proportionate enthusiasm in their section over the meeting of the undefeated Chickies and the Lions at Searcy Friday night. The heavy Chickie line probably will outweigh the lighter Searcy forwards, 30 pounds to the man, but the Searcy lads will have an advantage in speed. The game will be broadcast.

The tough scoring Atkins Red Devils, both undefeated and untied, have probably their toughest foe of the season in Clarksville's Panthers. The Red Devils added to their impressive scoring record by dropping Morrilton, 37 to 0 last week, while Clarksville was howling to Little Rock, 20 to 7.

Farther north, the Rogers Mountaineers return to the gridiron after a week's layoff to protect their undefeated record against the Van Buren Pointers.

Down in Southwest Arkansas the interest is in De Queen's annual feature with the powerful Hope Bobcats. De Queen already has played one game this week, winning from Foreman, 39 to 7, in an Armistice Day engagement. The Hot Springs Trojans, still badly crippled, have a date to fill at El Dorado with Jimmy Walker's Wildcats. Renewing a Western Arkansas rivalry will be Ben Mayo's Fort Smith Grizzlies and Fayetteville. Camden and Fordyce carry their series another step forward, Horatio will journey to Nashville and Stamps will play at Gurdon.

Watkins to Ask for New Opponent

Wants to Open League Play With Any Club Except Little Rock

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Thomas Watkins, president of the Memphis Baseball Club of the Southern Association, has one complaint to place before league directors Friday.

As far back as most baseball fans can remember, Memphis and Little Rock have met on the opening day of the season. That has finally begun to worry Mr. Watkins. "Not that he has anything against Little Rock, but he wants a change next season. It doesn't matter whom the Chickies meet just so it isn't the Arkansans."

"We want to open with somebody else," he said, "and we'll make a fight for it."

Winning Plays of 1936

By ART KRENZ, NEA Sports Artist

Colgate upset a favored Army team, 14-7, by scoring a last period touchdown with the play diagrammed above. The play worked well against Holy Cross, too.

The Red Raiders put the ball in a scoring position at West Point when Lalor, fullback, passed to Long on what began as a reverse and ended by Long tossing the pigskin 35 yards to Mempel, right end, who had run behind the safety man after cutting sharply into the center zone.

With the ball on the Army 5-yard line, Colgate shifted to the right in a double wingback formation, and ran to the left. The ball went to Lalor, who took a step forward as though he intended to plunge, but half spun, and slipped the ball to Whitney aeger, who came around from the right wingback position.

Burke, quarterback.

Red Chesbro, left tackle, came out of the line to lead the play. Wemple checked Erikson, Army left tackle, and then went down to look after the safety man. Eck, center, after passing the ball, checked an opposing lineman, and then slipped over to take care of a backer-up.

Jaeger, on reaching the line of scrimmage, sprinted directly for the corner, outrunning Craig, the lone Army back who was not taken out, and crossed the goal line with no defending hand even close to him.

Big Ten Coaches Favor Sending Strong Northwestern Team to Rose Bowl Game

But 10 Faculty Representatives Say Nay, Nay, Depriving Players of Holiday Trip and Conference School of $70,000

By HARRY GRAYSON, NEA Sports Writer

CHICAGO—The 10 faculty representatives of the Western Conference, who decide such things, will tell you that the rule prohibiting post-season football games was made in the interest of the players.

But if they're speaking of the members of the Northwestern varsity of 1936, they had best take another vote. The champion Wildcats want to perform in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day. Yynn Waldorf, their coach, would like to deploy the conquerors of mighty Minnesota in the Arroyo Seco.

Coaches and members of other Big Ten clubs would like to see Northwestern carry their league's banner against the pick of the west in Pasadena.

"I really believe that the Rose Bowl game has a place in football," says Bernie Bierman, ultra-conservative head man of Minnesota, whose splendid Tulane team made a great showing against a highly geared Southern California array in the big show of the far west, January 1, 1932. "Some argue that the long trip takes the players away from classes for too long a period, but they overlook the fact that a school seldom is in line for this invitation. That being the case, what harm can come of students being away for two or three weeks, most of which is during the Christmas holidays?"

Mid-West Team Preferred
"I played my last game for Notre Dame against Stanford in the Rose Bowl and would certainly enjoy taking a Wisconsin team to the coast," asserted Harry Stuhldreher of the Badgers.

"The Tournament of Roses is an institution which has done much for intercollegiate football," says Noble Kizer of Purdue, whose playing career also reached the end of the trail with the Four Horsemen in the Golden West. "The Pacific Coast Conference conducts the Rose Bowl game. My experience as a player there was grand."

I took a Christmas holiday trip to San Diego, Calif., while playing at Centre College," asserts Bo McMillin. "I wish it were possible for me to put one of my Indiana teams in the Rose Bowl."

"Any team winning the right to appear in the Rose Bowl should not be denied the opportunity," says Ossie Solem of Iowa. And so on down the line.

Western Conference faculty representatives waiving the rule.

Rose Bowl Purses $70,000

A Big Ten squad hasn't lashed itself into battle in the Rose Bowl since the renowned Brick Muller threw his story book pass as California walloped Ohio State, 28-0, January 1, 1921. Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of the Western Conference, explains that at that time it was made clear that an exception to the rule would not again be made. The faculty representatives turned thumbs down on Michigan going to the coast three or four years back.

The faculty representatives take the position that eight games are sufficient for the young bucks, but fail to take into consideration that a ninth one in southern California would permit some of the boys to see a good part of America first and have a little fun on the way home after breaking training.

They also overlook the not altogether unimportant point that the visiting team collects something like $70,000 in the Rose Bowl. Outside schools, Alabama in particular, are simply crazy about the Big Ten rule which confines its teams to the regular season. The "Bama boys have improved their athletic setup no little in four excursions to Pasadena in the last 10 years.

Strong Field of Candidates
Santa Clara hardly will draw the west coast assignment inasmuch as it is not a member of the Pacific Coast Conference and has an engagement with Texas Christian as late as December 12. Southern California, Washington, and Washington State still are in the running on the western slope.

As much as Pasadena would like a Big Ten team, it somehow will manage to struggle along without one and pick a suitable opponent for the western standard bearer as quickly as the Pacific coast loop settles its own fight. There is a large and capable field to choose from—Fordham, Pittsburgh, and Dartmouth in the east; Alabama, Louisiana State, Tulane, Auburn, Duke and North Carolina in the south; Marquette in the midwest, and Nebraska in the Big Six.

None of these schools is hampered by 10 faculty representatives. They are not adverse to permitting the boys who pay for their athletic programs an opportunity to play in a game which means a great deal to them, and to letting them see the country and have a little relaxation and fun. What puzzles their faculty members is why any institution should hesitate when offered a grand trip for their boys—and $70,000.

fifth that did reply? Your guess is as good as ours. We'll go into it a little more later. The important thing in all the above is that all this conjecture about our "not reaching certain strata" simply will not hold water.

Hoover Voters—Now for another "explanation" dinned into our ears: "You got too many Hoover voters in your sample."

Well, the fact is that we've always got too big a sampling of Republican voters. That was true in 1926, in 1924, in 1928, and even in 1932, when we overestimated the Roosevelt popular vote by three quarters of 1 per cent. In 1928 in Chicago, we underestimated the Democratic vote by a little more than 5 per cent, overestimated the Republican vote by the same margin.

We wondered then, as we had won-

MAY SUCCEED PERRY

Charles Wilkin, former coach of the Hope High School football team, may succeed Mervin Perry as head coach of the Hot Springs Trojans.

Wilkin coached the Bobcats during two intervals several years ago, the last time being succeeded here by Teddy Jones. Wilkin transferred to Hot Springs where he has been athletic director for the junior football team. Wilkin has enjoyed much success as coach of the Hot Springs Spartans.

Reports from Hot Springs Friday said that Perry would not again coach the football team—that he would be elevated to athletic director—and that Wilkin probably would be drafted.

Wayne (Red) Swain, assistant football coach, will be in charge of basketball at the school, succeeding Cy King, who has resigned to enter the bath house business.

WILL MISS GAME

When the Little Rock Tigers and Pine Bluff meet Saturday afternoon in their annual gridiron clash it will be the first time in 15 years that the battle will not be witnessed by Foy Hummons.

Hummons was coach of the Zebras from 1921 through the season of 1926, later going to Ouachita College and then to Monticello A. & M., and thence to Hope.

Each year Hummons returns to either Little Rock or Pine Bluff, wherever the battle is to be fought, to at least lend moral support to his former Zebras. Hummons believes that Pine Bluff will win this year.

Hummons will be unable to see the game this Saturday. He will take his Bobcats to Dallas to witness the University of Arkansas and Southern Methodist teams plays in a Southwest conference game.

PICKING THE PORKERS

Last week we forecast that Texas A. & M. would hand Southern Methodist its first conference defeat—and that the University of Arkansas would send Rice Institute home on the losing end of the score. Right on both guesses.

This week we predict that Arkansas will score at least 20 points on Southern Methodist. If the Mustangs can put over more than that many points on the Razorbacks they can have the ball game.

Arkansas has scored one or more times per game in the past 20 successive contests, and we pick the Forkers to win Saturday.

FOR EVENING PAPERS

Alan Gould, sports editor of the Associated Press, will release his 12th annual All-America football selections the first week in December. First publications will be in the evening papers this year under the established plan of alternating the releases between evening and morning newspapers.

"HALF AND HALF" GAME

What is said to be the first "half and half" football game played in the United States was contested the other day between Bradley and Augustana freshmen. The game played was at Peoria, Ill., and both are Illinois teams. The first half was played in daylight. The two teams were given a rest and the second half was run off an hour after dark with the use of floodlights.

dered before and have wondered since, why we were getting better cooperation in what we have always regarded as a public service from Republicans than we were getting from Democrats. Do Republicans live nearer null-boxes? Do Democrats generally disapprove of straw polls?

We don't know that answer. All we know that in 1932, when the tide seemed to be running away from Hoover, we were perturbed about the disproportion of Republican voters in our sampling. Republican and Democratic chiefs from all points in the country were at the telephone in the day after day for reports of what the Democrats called our "correctly conducted" system. And then the result came along, and it was so right, we were inclined to agree that we had been concerned without reason, and this year, when it seemed logical to suppose that the President's vote would be lighter, even if he won (hadn't that been the rule on reelections for more than a hundred years?) we decided not to worry.

Figures—So the statisticians did our worrying for us on that score, applying what they called the "compensating-ratio" in some cases, and the "switch-factor" in others. Either way, for some of the figures experts it didn't matter; interpret our figures for 2,376,523 voters as they would, the answer was still London. Then other statisticians took our figures and so weighed, compensated, balanced, adjusted and interpreted them that they showed Roosevelt.

We did not attempt to interpret the figures, because we had no stake in the result other than the wish to preserve our well-earned reputation for scrupulous bookkeeping. So we sent out more than ten million ballots, exactly as we had sent them out before. We don't know what proportion went to persons who had voted for Roosevelt in 1932 or what proportion went to persons who had voted for Hoover, because our polls are secret always, and the ballots come back with no

Paul, who won the National League batting championship for the second time in three campaigns, and his younger brother are wintering at Sarasota.

Prescott Loses to Gurdon, 12-0

Go-Devils Take Advantage of Breaks to Beat Curly Wolves

GURDON, Ark.—Although outscored in first downs, 11 to 8, the Gurdon Go-Devils managed to take advantage of the breaks to score a 12 to 0 victory over the Prescott Curly Wolves here Wednesday afternoon.

Tombs scored in the second quarter on an end run and Bratton took a pass and ran 60 yards for the second score late in the fourth quarter.

signatures, no identifying characteristics of any sort except the post-marks.

Basis—However, since the basis of the 1936 mailing-list was the 1932 mailing-list, and since the overwhelming majority of those who responded to our Poll in 1932 voted for Mr. Roosevelt, it seems altogether reasonable to assume that the majority of our ballots this year went to people who had voted for Mr. Roosevelt in 1932. There simply was no way by which The Digest could assure itself or the public that the marked ballots would come back in the same proportion. We couldn't very well send duplicate ballots to indifferent Democrats, or personal letters prodding them into action, because we didn't know which were Democrats and which were Republicans, let alone which would vote for Roosevelt and which for London.

If any of the hundreds who have so kindly offered their suggestions and criticism can tell us how we could get voters to respond proportionately, and still keep the poll secret, as we believe it ought always to be, then we wish these critics would step up and do so. And with arguments more convincing than the familiar one about our not reaching the "lower strata" and "sampling too many Republicans." Because those two theories explain nothing; they only add to the multiplicity and confusion of words—words—words.

Too Many—And there's another "explanation" that doesn't seem to hold much water, when you examine it closely. That's the one that argues that we polled too many voters, that cites the experience of another poll that sent out less than a fourth as many ballots and came closer to being right. The answer here is that the Baltimore Sun papers polled more persons per square mile in Maryland than we did anywhere except in the cities—and the Sunpapers were a lot nearer right than this "model poll" for Maryland. Also, the man who came nearer the right answer than all the polls put together was Jim Farley, and Jim based his predictions on reports from tens of thousands of precinct leaders in every city, town and hamlet in the country.

So—what? So we were wrong, although we did everything we knew to assure ourselves of being right.

We conducted our Poll as we had always done, reported what we found, and have no alibis. We drew no special satisfaction from our figures, and we drew no conclusions from them. The result was disappointing only in the sense that it threw our figures out the window, and left us without even the satisfaction of knowing why.

Future—As for the immediate future, The Digest feels that in truth "the Nation has spoken." The Digest halls a magnificent President against whom it never uttered one word of partizan criticism. The Digest can not support him, in the sense that newspapers support a president, editorially, because The Digest does not editorialize. But it can obtain genuine satisfaction from the knowledge that its several Editors, as American citizens, and its millions of readers, as American citizens, will stand behind the First Citizen.

Speaking of the President, there is a spot of comfort for us in the knowledge that he himself was pretty badly off on his Electoral total, and that he "laughed it off" in his genial way. His last guess was 360 votes to Mr. Landon's 171. (On June 5 he had estimated his margin at 315 to 216.)

As for the more distant future, the questions have been asked: Will The Digest conduct another Poll? Will it change its methods?

The answer to the first question we phrase in others: Should the Democratic Party have quit in 1924, when it reached a modern low-ebb in power and confidence, instead of going on to the greatest triumph in its history? Should the Republican Party have quit in 1912, when it carried only two states? Should the University of Minnesota, with the greatest record in modern football, give up the sport because it finally lost one game, after a string of twenty-one victories?

The answer to the second question is: We'll cross that bridge when we come to it.

mand of $15 worth of electricity per month for each mile of transmission line. A project must run for at least 25 miles of transmission line—unless it is proposed to take over a line already established and self-sustaining.

Third, the REA determines the nearest and cheapest generating station, and the permanent organization is then set up, and officers are elected. The construction cost of transmission lines is from $700 to $1,000 per mile. The transmission line cost includes the delivery of electricity to the actual farmhouse door, providing this is not more than 500 feet from the road. Lines built more than 500 feet from the road must be paid for by the farmer. There is no meter deposit, and the consumer has absolutely no liability except payment of his monthly bill. If this goes delinquent 60 days he is cut off. The only thing the government requires in exchange for its construction loan is a mortgage on the line that is built.

Cost of Electricity
Electric rates for Hempstead farm consumers would go about like this: For the first 50 KWH, $2.50 to $3; for the next 50 KWH, $1.50; and all over 100 KWH at 2 cents per KWH. "One KWH will do about the same work as half a gallon of gasoline. It's something every Hempstead county citizen ought to make up to."

St. Louis Browns to New Ownership

Club Brings $325,000 Cash; Night Games Are Sanctioned

CHICAGO.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns, for years the weak link in the American League, were placed in the care of new owners Thursday.

The transfer, involving the franchise and players, became official when five representatives of the St. Louis Purchasing Syndicate appeared before club owners of the American League in a special meeting to receive unanimous approval. The syndicate, which purchased the Browns for $325,000 in cash, has been capitalized for $500,000, leaving a balance of $175,000 for development of the team.

The names of 18 syndicate members were revealed. They are headed by Donald Lee Barnes, investment banker, who is slated to become president of the new organization. William O. DeWitt, for 19 years an official of the St. Louis Cardinals organization, to become vice president and general manager of the Browns.

The American League, after accepting the new St. Louis club backers, agreed on night baseball, the American League refused to sever from its course of playing baseball only during the daytime. But because of pressure from the St. Louis Cardinals, who use the St. Louis Browns park, light will be installed and a few games will be played by the Browns next season after sundown.

CRISIS FOR EUROPE

Italy and Russia Approach
Open Break Because of Spain

MADRID, Spain — (AP) — Madrid's Montaña barracks and the whole line of fortifications in the vicinity of the Segovia bridge were bombed in a daring insurgent air raid late Friday.

Three Fascist tri-motors, guarded by six pursuit planes, roared out of a dense cloudbank in the western sky and spilled 14 huge bombs.

Five of the projectiles hit the Montaña barracks where several thousand government troops are quartered.

Early in the day government warplanes asserted a temporary mastery of the air over beleaguered Madrid in a great mass battle in which it was officially announced that six Fascist raiders were shot down.

Thousands of Madrid citizens saw two of the planes crash, one within the city itself. The government announced that both were insurgent ships and said four others had been forced from the air during a chase over the insurgent lines which followed a spectacular dog-fight.

The prompt attack by nine government planes, defense leaders declared, prevented the earlier bombardment of the city.

Italy-Soviet Crisis
ROME, Italy — (AP) — Italian officials see possibility of a diplomatic rupture between Italy and Russia as a result of Dina Grandi's bitter denunciation of Russia before the International Non-Intervention Committee in London Thursday night.

It accentuated the growing bitterness between Rome and Moscow.

It was the first time that an Italian ambassador ever has accused the Moscow government and Joseph Stalin directly. Precious attacks have been directed against Communism, Bolshevism or intervention in the Spanish civil war.

King Won't Wed, Is British View

Private Magazine Also Discounts Rumors of
His Abdication

LONDON, Eng. — (AP) — The privately circulated and mimeographed magazine, The Week, concludes there is little possibility of King Edward either abdicating or marrying Mrs. Wallis Simpson, a copy of the magazine revealed Thursday.

Under the heading "The King and the Rumors," the magazine deals with high rates for insurance that Edward's coronation will take place next spring as scheduled and asserts:

"The idea behind the rate is that the king will insist on marrying Mrs. Simpson and that the opposition of the bishops (England's two archbishops) to such nonconformity and of the Conservative party generally will force him from the throne."

There has been, the magazine said, conflict in court circles between the "old guard" which resents the king's friendship with his American friend and "the newer type of courtier" who apparently thinks Mrs. Simpson is "too high."

"In any case," The Week concludes, "there is yet no evidence at all to support the promise of the American press and the City gamblers that there is an affection between the king and Mrs. Simpson of the kind they suppose, or that either party has yet contemplated marriage with the other."

King Edward and a small party of friends were guests of Mrs. Simpson Wednesday night, reliable sources said, until it was time for the monarch to leave for Portland where he inspected the home fleet Thursday.

"Attempts to discredit the king's friendship with Mrs. Simpson were dispelled when she lunched last week with the queen," The Week asserted. "The old guard can only report one local success. At Aberdeen a well-

Wednesday night acquitted Russia of three Italian charges that she had aided the Madrid government after Signor Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London had bitterly denounced Russia.

The committee decided that three of Italy's charges against Russia had not been proved. It adjourned to await further information from Russia regarding a fourth Italian charge.

Grandi declared that Italy "accepted the challenge" of a Communist threat in Europe.

"Russia even here assumed its recent disguise as a democratic lamb and endeavors to whitewash the Red flag of the Communist revolution," he said.

Referring to the Spanish government's flight from Madrid, Grandi said: "Thus ends, amidst fire and blood, the greatest attempt ever made by Bolshevism to export their creed through force and famine, beyond their frontiers."

"The Soviet representative has defined it as a creed of peace but the facts deny him. It is a creed based on class hatred and civil strife. It is the creed of war."

Grandi continued: "Stalin (Joseph Stalin), chief of the Bolshevik revolution, said it was the duty of the U. S. S. R. to render every assistance within their power to be Spanish Communist revolution inasmuch as the liberation of Spain from Fascist oppression was not a private affair of the Spaniards but the common cause of Communism."

"We accept the challenge. Italy is convinced that it is not only the future of Spain but the future of all civilized Europe that is at stake today."

titles, and services performed by employees engaged in the railroad transportation business. Regulations 91 explains the application of these exceptions in detail.

If an employee receives more than $3,000 as remuneration for services performed during any calendar year for an employer, only the first $3,000 received from such employer is subject to the employees' tax and the employers' tax for that year.

The tax on each employee is measured by the wages he receives, and each employer is taxed on the sum of the wages he pays to his employees. The initial rate of each of these taxes is 1 per cent of the wages.

Title 8 of the Act provides that each employer shall withhold the tax on employees at the time the employer makes wage payments. Amounts so withheld, together with the tax on the employer, must be paid by the employer to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the employer's principal place of business is located.

Tax returns are required to be filed monthly and returns of employers for the month of January 1937, will be due February 28, 1937. The taxes shown to be due on a monthly tax return must be paid to the collector at the time the return is filed.

Data From Employer
Information returns will also be required of every employer, reporting the taxable wages which are paid to each of his employees. The first information return will cover the six month period from January 1, 1937, to June 30, 1937, and will be due July 31, 1937. Thereafter information returns will be filed on a quarterly basis.

The employer, in addition, is required to make an information return for each of his employees who attains age 65 or dies before attaining age 65. These returns must be filed within fifteen days after the employee's 65th birthday or the date of death.

The necessary forms upon which to make returns will be made available at a later date at the office of the collector of internal revenue.

Employees are not required to make returns under Title 8 of the Act.

Every employer liable for tax is required to keep accurate records of all remuneration paid to his employees after December 31, 1936, for services performed for him after such date. Such records must show with respect to each employee:

(1) the name and address of the employee and the number assigned to the account of the employee pursuant to the regulations provided in Treasury Decision 4704 (printed in the Appendix to Regulations 91)

(2) the occupation of the employee.

(3) the total amount (including any sum withheld therefrom as tax or for any other reason) and date of each remuneration payment and the period of service covered by such payment.

(4) the amount of such remuneration payment which constitutes wages subject to tax, and

(5) the amount of employees' tax withheld or collected with respect to such payment, and, if collected at a time other than the time such payment was made, the date collected.

If the total remuneration payment and the amount thereof which is taxable are not equal, the reason therefor must be made a matter of record.

No particular form is prescribed for these records, which must be kept for a period of at least four years. Each employer must use such forms and systems of accounting as will enable the Commissioner of Internal Revenue to ascertain whether the employees' tax and the employers' tax are correctly computed and paid.

While not mandatory, employees are advised to keep permanent accurate records, beginning January 1, 1937, showing the name of each employer for whom he performs services, the dates of beginning and termination of such services, and the same information concerning his remuneration and

San Francisco Bay Bridge Completed

Traffic Starts Rolling
Across Huge Golden
Gate Structure

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Automobiles began rolling across the trans-bay bridge at the rate of 200 a minute Thursday after dedication of the $77,000,000 span. Speakers termed the bridge, spanning eight and one-quarter miles of salt water and tideland between San Francisco and Oakland, the acme of engineering achievement.

President Roosevelt pressed a button in Washington that lighted "go" signals and set a long stream of traffic in motion while cannon boomed on 14 battleships, 250 airplanes soared overhead and two cities cheered.

Even ferry boats, which now have competition in the bridge for passengers, automobile and freight traffic, sounded their whistles.

Gov. Frank Merriam used an acetylene torch to sever a golden link in silver chain and shatter the last barrier to the bridge.
